David has shown some remorse for his part in the scheme

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Nick betrays David in court!

WHO WILL BE SENT DOWN AS HE SNEAKILY DOUBLE-CROSSES HIS BROTHER?

Judgement day arrives for Nick and David this week, as they stand trial for the theft of Audrey's money. But just when it looks as if the brothers have called a truce, with Nick promising to take full responsibility for the fraud, he commits the most hideous betrayal – informing the court that his sibling masterminded the whole thing!

"It's a snap decision in the moment," insists Ben Price, who plays devious Nick. "He is standing up there in court, and he feels this is all a bit more real now. He is scared it is going to backfire on him."

That's not to say that David has behaved like an angel in the whole sorry saga, having blackmailed Nick into using Audrey's stolen cash to bankroll their barber shop, Trim Up North. However, since David's guilty conscience got the better of him and he confessed to his gran, he's been desperate to make it up to her – and is prepared to accept whatever punishment awaits him.

Unfortunately, the same can't be said of Nick. His ruthless streak knows no bounds – though Gail's eldest appears to have a change of heart early in the week when he is given a stark reminder of what family loyalty really means, prompting him to do a complete U-turn and tell David that he plans to hold up his hands in court.

In return, thankful David calls Imran and backtracks on his claims that Nick was responsible for the factory roof collapse, leaving his solicitor absolutely fuming.

“It's a snap decision from Nick – he's scared it will backfire on him”

As the brothers stand in court, David has no idea that Nick is about to land him in the soup injury caused him to act out of character – and that David was the genius of their operation! Flabbergasted, poor David is powerless to mount his defence as the judge delivers its verdict. Will Nick succeed in saving his own skin, while dooming David to a long stretch behind bars? Or will both brothers be sent down, and left to rot in a prison cell together?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

PLATT'S YOUR LOT?

The rest of Nick's family disown him...

While the brothers battle in court, the Platts are at their wits' end when Gail fails to return home in time for the trial. What could be keeping her?

Meanwhile, Sarah turns Nick's own plan against him, and has Adam draw up a document removing Nick as boss of Underworld, on the grounds that his brain injury makes him unfit for duty. Has Nick's entire family finally washed its hands of him?

"Nick thinks that they'll come round," says Ben. "That is the essential part of the Platts – they always come good in the end. And there are a lot of mitigating circumstances as to why he took the money – although taking it off your grandma is not ideal! Nick may have been misguided and stupid, but he doesn't think he is spiteful."

Nick is certain he can still avoid the consequences of his actions

But when Nick consults with Leanne – who has stood by him through thick and thin – she demands that he stick to the original plan and do whatever it takes to secure his freedom.

"Nick is very torn," confirms Ben. "Suddenly it becomes real that he might go away for a long time, and the life that he is trying so hard to build up again could go. He starts to think that if he keeps quiet, he could get away with it."

Meanwhile, David informs Shona that Nick plans to tell the truth in court. So, imagine the horrified look on both their faces when Nick stands before the judge and double-crosses him, claiming that his brain

Victoria: “I’m leaving the village!”

AS HER RAPIST LEE CONTINUES TO TAUNT
HER, VICTORIA IS DESPERATE TO ESCAPE...

Victoria seems set to leave behind her friends and family this week, as she plans on moving out of the village – to get as far away as possible from her rapist Lee.

Following Lee and his mother Wendy’s recent arrival on her doorstep, traumatised Victoria is painfully aware that the pair will likely never leave her alone – particularly now they know that she’s having his baby.

So, with her own mental health and the well-being of her unborn child at the forefront of her mind, Victoria believes she has no choice but to start afresh somewhere new. Can anyone persuade her otherwise?

“Coming face to face with Lee again has been horrific for Victoria,” sighs our Dales spy. “Yet it’s the fact that he knows she’s carrying his child which has hit the hardest. Victoria had already made the brave decision to have her baby. But now she’s terrified Lee and Wendy will demand she has a termination, or – an equally awful prospect – insist on being involved in the baby’s life.”

Robert is trying to convince his sister to stay put, while Victoria and Diane prepare to sell Keepers Cottage, when Wendy makes yet another uninvited visit. However, as Robert distracts the estate agent, Victoria and Diane steer Wendy away to hear her out...

“While the last thing Victoria needs at this point is for Wendy to know she’s leaving, she generously allows Wendy to have her say,” shares our insider. “But of course, it’s not good news for Victoria. As she feared, Wendy is desperate to be involved in the baby’s life – and also claims Lee might try to gain custody of the child!

“It’s the worst scenario as far as Victoria is concerned, so Diane can’t believe just how calm she’s managing to stay.”

The moment Wendy leaves, however, Victoria’s utter terror

Wendy’s appearance

THE LIVES OF OTHERS

Isabel Hodgins reveals Vic's ordeal has prompted a huge response from viewers...

"It's all very well when you play a story like this in the confines of a TV studio – but it's reaching out to people, and people have reached out to me," shares Isabel Hodgins, aka Victoria. "That's a new experience for me. I've had survivors thanking me for telling the story so truthfully, and they've shared their stories – particularly since Victoria decided to keep her baby.

"I've heard from people whose child was a product of rape, or sexual assault. One lady decided not to go ahead with the pregnancy, and told me it was the hardest thing she ever did. Another went ahead with hers, and said she now has an amazing 20-year-old daughter – and she wouldn't change a thing for the world. This is people's lives, and people's stories..."

is clear for Diane and Robert to see – as Wendy's latest visit leaves her more determined than ever to get away. Yet while Robert remains frustrated by her decision, Diane believes she must do all she can to help Victoria escape – prompting drastic action...

"Aware that Victoria wants to leave as soon as she possibly can, Diane knows that she needs cash fast," explains our snoop. "So she asks if Pollard will buy her out of the B&B she runs with him. But will the wily businessman be prepared to help her for Victoria's sake?"

As Diane awaits Pollard's answer, time is of the essence – particularly when Robert starts stalking Lee at his house. However, is he simply there to warn Lee and his mother to stay away from Victoria – or something more dangerous? And how will Robert's next move affect his sister's future happiness?

Kush & Martin battle it out!

WILL A BOXING MATCH SORT OUT THEIR DIFFERENCES – OR PUSH THEM APART?

The feud between former best buddies Kush and Martin gets physical this week, as Shirley suggests that they settle their differences in a boxing match! But is punching each other's lights out really the best way to get the pair back on to friendly terms?

The atmosphere has been sour between the two men ever since Martin discovered that Kush had been keeping secrets about his daughter, Bex. And the delicate situation only worsened when Kush made it clear that he was intending to put in a legal challenge for his biological son, Arthur, whom Martin has adopted. With all previous attempts to compromise having been rebuffed, neither man seems willing to budge on their stubborn position. So that's why Shirley makes her unusual proposal...

"Shirley is just as sick as everybody else of Martin and Kush moping about the Square, wearing those scowls," says our EastEnders insider. "It gets to a point where you just want to shake them both, and tell them to sort it out, for the sake of everyone's sanity! So that's precisely what Shirley does. And if they can't use words to settle things, then perhaps their fists can do the talking!"

However, just as the two guys are squaring up, Kush notices that some youngsters are helping themselves to Martin's unguarded money belt. On chasing after the thieves, Kush soon catches up with them, and retrieves the belt. And when Martin arrives on the scene, he's relieved to find that he hasn't lost an entire day's takings.

"Although these opportunists could have just as easily targeted someone else, it seems that it's just the tonic the warring duo needed!" cheers our snoop. "Kush's quick reactions saved Martin's bacon, so he can't help but express his gratitude. And with the two of them lowering their defences for a moment, it's enough for them to realise how daft they've both been."

Shirley steps in and suggests that violence might be the answer...

After an emotional heart-to-heart, Martin and Kush agree to put the past behind them. However, there's still the issue of their other halves – Stacey and Kat – who are preoccupied with their own dispute. Can Martin and Kush persuade the pair to follow their example, so the family can finally begin to heal?

"Kush and Martin realise just how daft they've both been"

DESPERATE MEASURES!

Mo makes a bid to reunite Kat & Stacey...

Kat makes the first move to repair her relationship with Stacey this week, and things seem to be going in the right direction... until it all flares up again!

Kat makes the mistake of asking Stacey about her missing £50,000, which makes her younger cousin see red. Stacey knows that Kat only wants to use the stolen money – which, in reality, belongs to Phil Mitchell – to fund Kush's legal campaign to gain custody of little Arthur. And with that, Stacey makes a huge decision which could change her relationship with Kat forever.

Elsewhere, however, Mo is determined to bring the feisty pair back together, so ropes in Jean to help. Jean does her best to talk her daughter round, but just when it seems as though she's made some progress, Stacey and Jean arrive at the Prince Albert – and run straight into Kat!

With no other options left to try, exasperated Mo comes up with a new plan, and goes to shocking lengths to bring Kat and Stacey to their senses. But given Mo's abysmal track record, especially in areas of diplomacy, is her sneaky scheme just as likely to make the family fractures even worse?

STEVE'S SECRET LOVE CHILD!

Angela Griffin to return as his ex, Fiona – and Emma turns out to be his daughter?

Rumour has it that Steve McDonald will be floored by the daddy of all shocks – when Rovers barmaid Emma Brooker turns out to be his daughter!

It's believed that former Corrie star Angela Griffin, who played Steve's girlfriend Fiona Middleton back in the 1990s, may appear briefly in a story that will see her revealed as Emma's mum – with Steve later discovering that he is the girl's father...

"Angela's reappearance is short and sweet, but it has huge implications for Steve," whispers our cobbles insider. "Will he realise that the date of Emma's conception matches up to when he was seeing Fiona? And what will his wife Tracy have to say about it?"

Corrie viewers may remember that Steve and hairdresser Fiona dated before she had a one-night-stand with his father, Jim! Fiona went on to have a son, Morgan, with detective Alan McKenna, who jilted her at the altar after hearing about her fling with Jim.

Steve and Fiona later reconciled, but she ditched him when he slept with her best mate, Maxine Peacock, before Fiona left the Street with Morgan in 1998. So, if we've done our sums right, Steve may learn that Fiona was in fact pregnant with Emma when she departed!

"The drama will unfold after Emma receives tragic news this summer," explains our source. "She'll be devastated when the man she thinks is her father dies – prompting Emma to contact Fiona.

"Emma hasn't mentioned her family much since arriving on the cobbles, and will be completely heartbroken by the sudden death of her dad," adds our mole. "She was the apple of his eye and worshipped him. It's going to be really tough for her."

DEATH STALKS CALLUM!

He is harbouring another secret...

Poor Callum cuts a solemn-looking figure in these latest EastEnders filming snaps, suggesting that tragedy is on the horizon for Whitney's troubled fiancé.

Our pictures show soldier Callum attending a memorial service for a fallen Army comrade, Chris Kennedy, with spies from the location shoot saying that he'll hide from the deceased's family at the memorial and try to sneak in the back door. But why?

"Callum will be wracked with guilt after claiming to have saved a friend's life when they served together in the forces – when actually it might have been the other way around," reckons our Walford mole. "Later, a woman finds Callum and comforts him, and she can be seen holding a bunch of letters. Can she help Callum find the closure he needs?"

The sad news looks set to come at a tricky time for Callum, who's been grappling with his sexuality and feelings towards Ben Mitchell, while planning to marry Whitney.

With Callum keeping so many secrets from his wife-to-be, how will he cope when they – and indeed Callum himself – tumble out of the closet?

Can Callum continue hiding the truth?

THIS IS NO ORDINARY JOE!

The McGann brother is set to bring big drama to Hollyoaks...

Hollyoaks bosses have us giddy with excitement following the announcement that Tony's dad, Edward Hutchinson – played by telly fave Joe McGann – is to be the soap's new supervillain!

Surgeon Edward will play a key role in the soap's 25th birthday celebrations next year – and we should all be very afraid!

"Edward couldn't be more different from loveable Tony," says a Hollyoaks spokesperson. "He's a highly manipulative and narcissistic surgeon who only has his own best interests at heart. The height of his villainy will build to a huge story running across the anniversary episodes and beyond."

"Hollyoaks has been around for nearly 25 years, and I have been there for every single one of them" adds actor Nick Pickard, who plays Tony. "Recently I had the pleasure of meeting Joe, and what better way of marking our anniversary than by getting to know some more of Tony's family? I have to warn you, though, Edward is here to ruffle a few feathers!"

Star Joe will make his debut in Hollyoaks when Edward arrives in the village later this year.

Will you marry me – again?

AS SINEAD GETS THE RESULTS OF HER
MRI SCAN, DANIEL WANTS TO MAKE THEIR UNION OFFICIAL...

Finally, these two have something to celebrate!

Sinead and Daniel are braced for bad news this week, when she heads to the hospital for a vital MRI scan, which is set to reveal whether or not her cancer treatment is working.

As the anxious couple sit in the waiting room, Sinead is brutally honest with Daniel, insisting he must face up to the fact that there's still every chance she could die. But there are big smiles all round as Sinead's consultant explains that her tumour has shrunk...

"It's such a wonderful outcome!" grins our Weatherfield spy. "Not only is Sinead's tumour smaller, but the doctor goes on to reveal that there's also no evidence the cancer has spread. It's a very welcome discovery after months of gruelling treatment for Sinead. So what does it mean for her future?"

It was shortly after discovering she was pregnant with her son, Bertie, that Sinead was diagnosed with cervical cancer. She was forced to bring her little boy into the world early via an emergency caesarean, after her cancer began to spread mid-treatment and doctors declared that urgent radiotherapy was required. Since then, Bertie has buoyed his mum and dad through the toughest of times, as Sinead's chemotherapy and her battle with cancer continued. But although the family has finally been given some much-longed-for good news at last, Sinead remains anxious.

"Daniel thinks it's time they were legally married"

"After everything she's been through, it's unsurprising that Sinead's not ready to relax just yet," shares our sneak. "She's very much aware that the cancer could return at any point, and there's still a way to go. So she's quick to remind Daniel of this stark fact, before he gets too carried away."

Even so, Sinead's devoted bloke remains determined she should celebrate and enjoy this important milestone, and he wants to keep her from mulling over the worst possible scenario. So he decides to surprise her with a holiday in the Scottish Borders...

"Daniel was desperate to take Sinead to Scotland a few weeks back," our insider reminds us. "But Sinead was understandably keen to get her MRI scan out of the way first. So Daniel decides the time is now – and while it's not the most exotic of getaway destinations, a relaxing break from the cobbles will hopefully do Sinead the power of good."

However, it's not long before there's yet another spanner in the works for the couple's impending trip. With Sinead's beard oil business going great guns, Daniel suggests they postpone their holiday so she can stay on top of her orders. But it turns out that he has a special delivery of his own up his sleeve – as he proceeds to propose!

"Daniel hands Sinead a locket, declaring that it's time they were legally married," reveals our snoop. "He secretly organised a pagan wedding ceremony for the couple not long after Sinead announced her pregnancy – but knew nothing of her cancer at the time. The pair have been on quite the journey since then, so Daniel reckons there's no better time to make their marriage official..."

As Sinead and Daniel seal the deal with a tender kiss, are the happy couple finally looking forward to a long and healthy married life together?

Allison Jones

HOPING FOR THE BEST?

While we keep our fingers crossed for Sinead's recovery to continue, some rumours have suggested that Katie McGlynn, who plays her, might soon be leaving Corrie – which doesn't bode well for Daniel and Sinead's well-deserved happy-ever-after. When recently quizzed on the matter, Rob Mallard, who plays Daniel, was measured in his response...

"In an ideal world I'd prefer it to be like that," he stressed. "But it doesn't always make good TV, does it, to have everyone getting what they want. I've been told [that what's in store] is going to be intense, so I've been preparing for that. We'll just have to wait and see what comes along."

Last time they got hitched, Daniel had no idea about Sinead's illness

Adam can't deny his feelings for Habiba – and resolves to confess to Honey

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

Honey's heartbreak!

AS ADAM TELLS HABIBA HE'LL END IT WITH HONEY, SHE'S PREPARING TO PROPOSE...

Cheating dentist Adam looks set to shatter poor Honey's heart this week, as the prospect of his secret lover Habiba moving on with another man leaves him seething with jealousy.

Unable to cope with the idea of Habiba entering into an arranged marriage, Adam insists to her that he and Honey are over. Meanwhile, oblivious Honey reveals to Billy that she's planning on asking Adam to marry her! But will Adam have the chance to let her down gently, before she realises her unfaithful partner has been sleeping with another woman behind her back?

"The clock's ticking, Adam!" insists our outraged Walford spy. "It's way past time for him to finally do the right thing by Honey. She's totally devoted to him – yet while he's been moving her and her kids into a fancy new flat, and making all kinds of promises about sharing a future together, he's been jumping into bed with Habiba at every opportunity!"

As Mariam hosts a formal meeting with a potential husband for her granddaughter, Adam is pushed to claim that he wants to be with Habiba for keeps. Mariam's match ends up proving fruitless in any case, but the very thought of losing Habiba leaves Adam cold.

All the while, however, Honey is excitedly making plans for her and Adam's new home, which he's purchased from landlord Jack (see p22). And after Linda makes a throwaway remark about hearing wedding bells, thrilled Honey gets carried away...

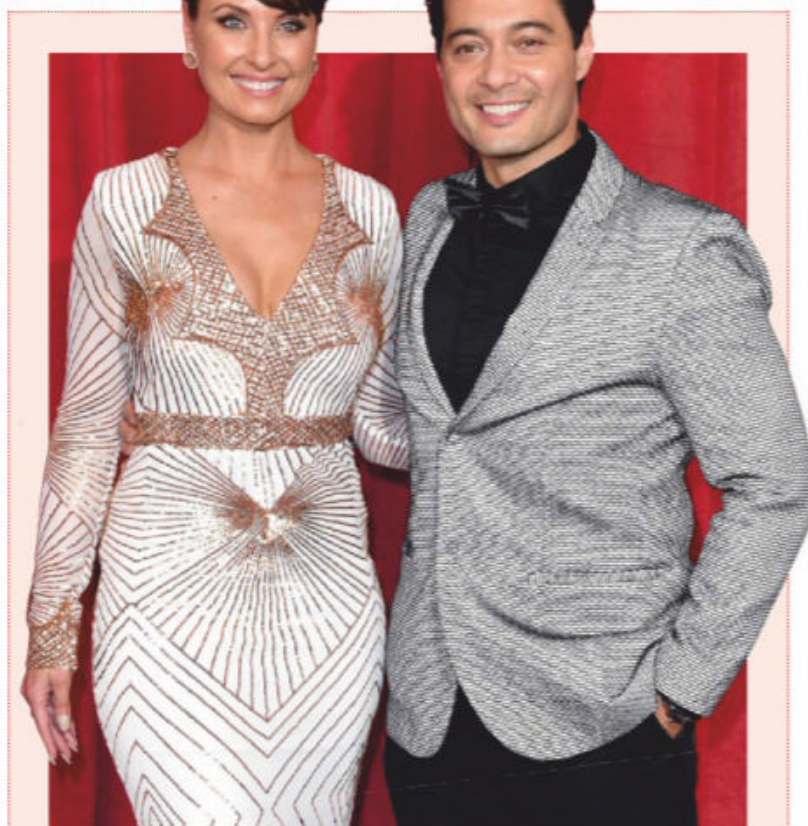

"Being Adam's wife would be a dream come true for

The dentist is a dirty dog – or a rotten canine...

Honey – of course it would," sighs our sneak. "As far as she's concerned, she's nabbed herself a handsome bloke with a stable job who seemingly loves her kids Will and Janet as much as he cares for her. And after everything Honey's been through with Billy, Adam has swept her right off her feet – so the last thing that she's expecting to find out is that he's been doing the dirty!"

Consequently, over-excited Honey makes the brave

NO MORE MR NICE GUY?

“He’s adorable – a great guy who’s fitted in beautifully!” Those were the words of Emma Barton, who plays Honey, as she talked to Inside Soap about co-star Stephen Rahman-Hughes (Adam) a little while back. But when Stephen and Emma were interviewed on the red carpet at the recent British Soap Awards, Stephen conceded that his deceitful alter ego probably isn’t quite so charming...

“Adam is a troubled soul,” suggested the star, who previously appeared in Emmerdale as Vikesh Dasari, the DCI who investigated the death of Tom King in 2006. “He’s mixed-up, and making some decisions that members of the audience aren’t particularly agreeing with. decision to pop the question to Adam herself – leaving Billy heartbroken when she shares the big news with him. But does Honey have an even bigger shock in store before she manages to get down on one knee?

“While she’s chatting away with Whitney about weddings, Honey realises that she’s lost the keys to the Minute Mart,” reveals our snoop. “Seeing that Honey is in a state of sheer panic, Stacey suggests that she check out the shop’s CCTV, in case it shows up where Honey last had the keys. Honey reckons that’s a great idea, and goes looking for Adam so that he can help her out – unaware that he’s busy in bed with Habiba...”

Damon's ideas are a bit too pie-in-the-sky for Maxine Maxine's wedding budget takes a huge hit this week, when her groom Damon books a helicopter to fly him and best man Brody to the ceremony!

But after the bride herself falls in love with an expensive wedding dress, will she use the 'fact' that she's dying to make sure she's the one who gets what she wants on her big day?

"This may be Maxine's third time getting hitched, but she's certainly not going for low-key!" chuckles our Hollyoaks insider. "She wants a wedding becoming of someone who doesn't have long left to live – even though we all know full well there's nothing wrong with her. She's determined to make it the most talked-about wedding in Hollyoaks history!"

With that in mind, Maxine calls on her best pals Grace and Sienna to help organise the special event. However, while making all the preparations, Maxine is also very careful to keep up the ruse that she is suffering from a mystery illness that's slowly killing her...

With that in mind, Maxine lies to her loved ones that she's meeting a private doctor in an effort to finally get to the bottom of what's going on. But the truth is that she's actually looking at wedding dresses for her special day!

Meanwhile, her hubby-to-be Damon is making some big decisions of his own, as he and Brody decide to book an expensive helicopter to fly them to the wedding! However, what will bridezilla Maxine say when she realises that her future hubby has blown their budget on a chopper?

"Maxine is certainly not going for low-key!"

Maxine is joined by her pals when she finds her dream dress

"It's Damon's big day too, and of course Maxine wants him to be happy," concedes our sneak. "However, if he has the helicopter, it will mean Maxine having to make a big cut in her wedding dress budget – and there's no way that Maxine is going to walk down the aisle in anything less than the perfect frock!"

To make matters even worse, when Maxine tries on wedding dresses with Grace and Sienna, she falls in love with the most expensive one there! Will she put her foot down and tell Damon that he's going to have to cancel his wedding ride so that she can have the dress of her dreams?

Can Robert keep fooling Michelle?

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

AS MICHELLE AND VICKY PULL HIM IN OPPOSITE DIRECTIONS, HE COULD BE FORCED TO CHOOSE...

Lying Robert is run ragged juggling his double life this week – and winds up in some very tricky situations!

Robert wants his happy-ever-after with Michelle and the chance to be a dad with Vicky. But as the reality of his situation starts to hit home, how much longer can he keep his secrets?

“If Robert thought he was torn between the two women before, this week he’s spinning more plates than his waiters on a busy night at the Bistro,” tuts our Corrie spy. “The rotter gets the green light to see Vicky after realising that Michelle will be away on business working at a charity fund raiser, but it won’t be so easy...”

As Michelle, Ayla and Ryan set up a buffet at the hotel venue, they learn that the event is to attract twice as many guests as previously expected! Panicking, Michelle calls Robert and asks him to bring more food – just as he’s about to leave for Vicky’s house. It’s his first real test at having to choose between the two women – and Michelle wins when her so-called hero arrives with emergency catering. Meanwhile, Robert’s phone is ringing like mad in his pocket...

“Vicky is doing her nut, and the stress Robert’s causing her can’t be good for her or the baby,” sighs our source. “He’s mad if he thinks he can keep stringing her along like this!”

After letting her down, Robert promises Vicky that he will definitely be there for her next midwife appointment. However, when excited bride-to-be Michelle swans off to a wedding dress sale, he’s stuck manning the Bistro.

Desperate, Robert decides to bribe Ryan to manage the restaurant, and after assuring the mother of his unborn baby that he is fully committed to her and their child, Robert returns to the cobbles and spins Michelle a yarn about suddenly being called away to help a young offender.

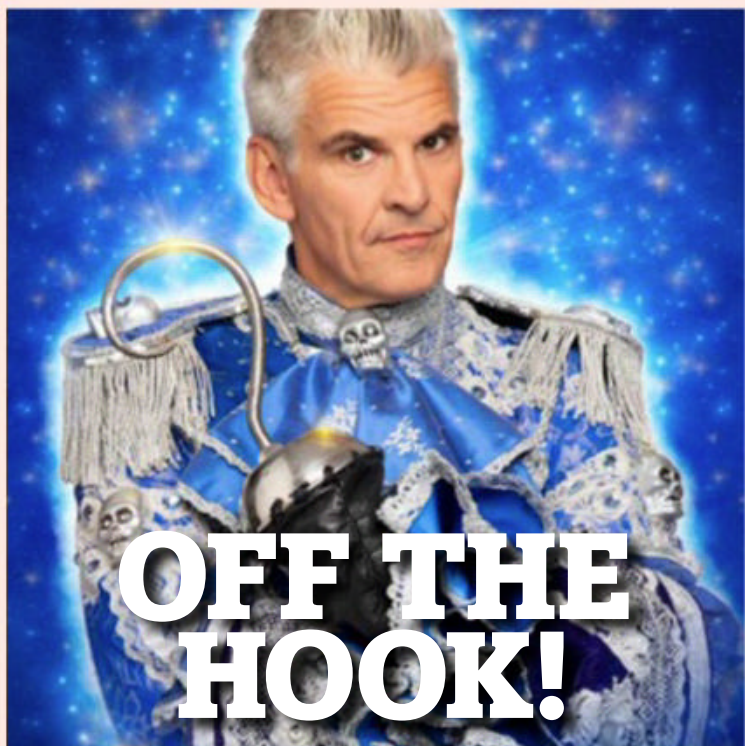

Will she buy his story again? Or will he be forced to fess up about Vicky and their baby?

Kiss is it?

LOVE FOR EILEEN – AS SEB FACES HEARTBREAK?

There's a moment of passion for Eileen this week, as builder Jan leans in for a kiss.

But can she finally put the spectre of her murderous husband Phelan behind her, and fall in love again?

As Eileen opens up to Jan about her marriage to a killer, he assures her she'll find love again – before planting a kiss on her. But although Eileen reciprocates at first, she pulls away – and it's clear she's struggling to deal with the prospect of a new man in her life...

Meanwhile, Eileen's young lodger Seb is having romance troubles of his own, when he calls his girlfriend Alina to suggest that they meet, and she abruptly hangs up. Still hoping to take her out for lunch, Seb calls in at the nail bar where she works – and is devastated as Alina tells him it's over! There's worse to come, however, when her boss later informs Seb that Alina has quit and vanished.

Jan is once again on hand to offer advice, and he tells gutted Seb that he should forget all about Alina.

But with the nature of Jan's connection to the nail bar and Alina's boss, Rachel, still a mystery, why is he not worried about Alina's safety? And does Jan's lack of unease suggest that he's not a man Eileen should be trusting with her heart after all?

Jack catches out Rainie!

WHY IS SHE BACK IN WALFORD?

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

There's drama at the home of the Brannings this week, as thieving Rainie sneaks back into the house – and gets caught by furious Jack.

After stealing all his money and snatching Abi, Rainie has been on the run, leaving Jack and Max in turmoil. And when Ian realises his grandchild has been taken, he gets involved in the search for Rainie and demands Max phones the police. After neither of the Branning brothers will make the call, Ian decides to approach Rainie himself and rings her. However, while it seems Ian might make matters worse, Rainie surprises everyone by agreeing to a meet him in a café away from the Square – and it's clear that she's up to no good.

"Given that Rainie could be done for abduction and theft, it seems bizarre she'd be willing to stroll into Walford to have a chat," muses our EastEnders spy. "Max knows that and tells Ian they should keep Jack in the dark about Rainie's return, to give themselves the best chance of getting to Abi. He doesn't care about Jack's cash."

Meanwhile, clueless Jack is in financial dire straits and Denise can't fathom why he won't seek help from the police. However, Jack believes he can raise funds after agreeing to sell the flat to Adam. Desperate for readies, he leans hard on Adam to complete the sale quickly, and it seems he'll get what he wants. Elsewhere, Max and Ian head to the café to see Rainie.

"Who should stroll through the door but Stuart, Rainie's new best pal!" says our insider. "He informs them that Rainie has gone on holiday and will return when she's ready, so there's no need for them to get the police involved with trying to find Abi. It's hardly going to put their minds at rest, yet it's Rainie could be done for abduction and theft – so her return is bizarre...

the best news they've had during this whole sorry saga."

Meanwhile, Rainie creeps into the Brannings', determined to locate Abi's favourite toy. The problem is, she thinks that Jack has also left for the hoax meeting with Stuart, and rifles through the property believing it to be empty – but Jack is in the house. Catching her red-handed, he demands she return his money and Abi. What will she be willing to do to escape him?

IS ABI SOAP'S UNLUCKIEST BABY?

Poor little Abi is once again at the heart of a Branning tug-of-war, and she's not even two yet! With mum Abi and dad Steven brown bread, it's down to the rest of her family to raise her. But with role models like these, we reckon she might end up more disturbed than her late mum...

GRANDAD MAX

Serial philanderer, the killer of her dad and all-round nasty bit of work, Max is Abi's legal guardian. We know Max adores his little granddaughter, but he adored his own children and now two of them are dead, and the other two never see him. Good lord.

GREAT AUNT RAINIE

Former smack addict Rainie cleaned herself up and immediately married her sister's ex-hubby. After robbing Abi's Great Uncle Jack of his entire fortune, Rainie's now dragging the tot around as a fugitive and has showed no signs of being mother material. Heaven help her!

GRANDMA TANYA

Surely the only hope of Abi having a chance of a happy, normal life would be in the care of her Grandma Tanya. The trouble is that she's so distraught about Abi Snr's death that she won't have anything to do with her infant grandchild. Buck up, Tan.

GREAT GRANDMA CORA

Never likely to be given a 'Mum of the Year' award from her own daughters, Cora was still willing to bring up Abi Jnr. However, chain-smoking septuagenarians who recently listed 'the streets' as their address don't tend to win custody battles. Sorry, Cora.

GRANDAD IAN

Sure, Abi could go and live with Grandad Ian, but then she'd be sharing an address with sister-killer Bobby, aka the human-timebomb. She'd also have to live with Ian, which has proven to send people even as saintly as Jane completely round the twist.

EMMERDALE | ITV TUESDAY

Stay away from Nate!

MOIRA LAYS DOWN THE LAW TO AMY...

Meddling Moira warns Amy to stay away from new boy Nate this week – but why does she care who her farmhand is dating?

The trouble kicks off when Moira overhears Nate and Amy arranging a date, and decides to step in. She tries to keep it subtle, but Amy is left in no doubt that Moira is telling her that Nate is bad news and he'll only hurt her. So cautious Amy cancels on Nate, determined not to jeopardise her contact with son Kyle, who lives with Moira and his dad Cain. Moira is pleased when she realises Amy has heeded her warning, but the big question is why the happily married woman feels the need to interfere.

"This isn't Moira's style at all – she's not one to stick her nose into other people's relationships," whispers our village spy. "However, she seems incapable of letting Nate live his life and date who he wants. Of course, it's not ideal for Kyle's mum to be sharing a bed with one of Cain's employees, but this is Emmerdale and there's not a lot of single people about! It's an odd reaction..."

There's no doubt that the Dingle marriage has been under a lot of strain lately. Moira and Cain have had a few bust-ups recently, including their row over Moira's decision to hide the fact that Kyle was hospitalised after Amy lost him. They've been through worse, though, and Moira hasn't suggested she wants to split up. However, she's acting like a jealous love rival and her behaviour is strange.

Nate can't believe it when he and Amy finally talk, and she's honest about why she cancelled their plans. It's bizarre for him to hear that Moira warned Amy

WILL DAVID AND JACOB'S FIGHTING KILL POLLARD?

There's a health scare for poor Pollard this week, when the toxic situation between David and Jacob leaves him fighting for breath.

Since Maya's imprisonment, Jacob has been at war with his dad and mum Leyla, blaming them for putting the woman he loves behind bars. Desperate to reach his son, David has set up a fake online gaming account to talk to Jacob and try to help him without his son realising who his confidant is. But when Jacob realises that his dad has been lying, and lures David and Leyla to the café, all hell breaks loose.

"Jacob goes mad and lashes out at David – it's a really ugly scene," reveals our Dales spy. "As usual, Pollard is the one who tries to break it up and calm both of them down. However, the stress of this encounter suddenly takes a terrible toll. Pollard gets short of breath and it looks as if he might need medical help."

The stress of Jacob's ordeal takes its toll

The sight of Pollard in so much pain signals a wake-up call to his son and grandson. They both love Pollard deeply and are terrified at the idea of losing him. The next day, they manage to talk civilly and agree that they have to protect Pollard from any more stress.

The fact Jacob is so worried about his grandad encourages David to believe there could be a way back. Leyla's stunned to find them united on something and thinks about how to keep the peace. What's she planning?

The great Walford race!

THE LOCALS GET COMPETITIVE OVER THE CHARITY FUN RUN...

The residents of Albert Square get set to run the Walford 10k race this week – although Gray and his father-in-law Mitch are clearly taking the charity event more seriously than everyone else!

As soon as he hears about the fun run, athletic Gray puts his name forward. And, eager to turn the event into something more competitive, the Walford newcomer wastes no time in persuading all his pals to sign up for the race too!

“Gray uses his charm to get all the locals to agree to take part in the race, but his real target is Mitch,” reveals our EastEnders insider. “It’s already obvious that these two don’t exactly see eye to eye. So Gray thinks that this could be the perfect opportunity to goad the older man into taking part in a race he’s not trained for – before humiliating him!”

Despite knowing that he’s no match for his son-in-law, Mitch can’t resist taking the bait, and agrees. And as the day of the race arrives, the rivalry between Mitch and Gray has reached fever pitch.

“You would think that it’s a matter of life and death,” chuckles our mole. “Gray is feeling supremely confident, being the younger, fitter man. Meanwhile, Mitch taunts Gray, and tells him that he’s going down! While everyone else is just looking forward to a day of fun, for these two it’s war!”

Linda ups the stakes by telling all of the runners that anyone who completes the course and receives a medal will win a discount off drinks at the Vic. But amazingly, the first runner to cross the finish line is Mitch – overtaking the likes of Gray and Bex on the way!

“Mitch then admits that he cheated!” laughs our spy. “Everyone else sees the funny side, but Gray is utterly livid!”

While the celebrations carry on over at the Queen Vic, Gray decides to slink away from the party and plot revenge against his father-in-law. The question is, how exactly will the fuming bloke get his own back?

He's running for Ollie...

Mick is also running the race, and he tells his wife Linda that he's planning to raise money for a private assessment for their son, Ollie, whom they suspect may have autism. However, Linda's reaction isn't quite what Mick had hoped for.

Later, when everyone gathers for a photo to promote their cause, things don't go entirely to plan, and Linda becomes even more upset. Noticing Linda's distress, Karen steps in to offer her support – and following the pep talk, Linda realises she needs to get behind her hubby, so they can both do right by Ollie.

After the race, Mick admits to his wife that he's already gone ahead and booked the assessment for their boy. Will the parents be given peace of mind?

HEATHER'S A HOOT

My absolute favourite thing in soap right now is Andrea's bonkers mum Heather in Neighbours. She's completely off her rocker! It's no wonder Andrea turned out the way she did with a mum like that. I can tell that star Kerry Armstrong is having an absolute ball playing her, and who can blame her? 🗨️ | Hannah, Basingstoke

GARY'S NOT BAD!

I am hoping that Corrie bosses don't make Gary Windass too bad and evil – we all know that baddies in Weatherfield end up dead, and I don't want the once-sweet Gary to be written out. Please make him nice again... maybe just a few murders, then he can go back to being good!

🗨️ | Dawn, Derbyshire

I think Gary's too far down the line to return to being a decent human being now, Dawn!

in Emmerdale was the final straw – I didn't even tune in for the second Tuesday episode. There's enough gun crime in real life without us having to constantly see it in our favourite shows.

🗨️ | Victoria, London

Do any other readers think our soaps are too dark right now?

The Mill is packed with drama, conflict and deceit – so No 10 seems the perfect next step

VALERIE FOR PM!

Has anyone else noticed the similarity between Doctors' funny receptionist Valerie and prime minister Theresa May? She could play the troubled PM in a biopic – and even make her funny. It would be fantastic timing with Doctors coming up for a summer break! Also, Valerie would make a great prime minister.

🗨️ | Kevin, Stoke-on-Trent

If anyone can sort out the whole Brexit fiasco, it's Valerie!

AUSSIE RULES

I really loved the scenes in Home and Away recently where Dean and Ziggy competed in the car rally. It's always lovely to see some of the Australian countryside, as that's one of the things that sets the Aussie soaps apart from the UK ones. It's made me hanker for a holiday, though!

🗨️ | Leo

We have enough sunshine of our own just now...

This threesome has certainly got into the swing of things

TEEN SPIRIT

Among all the drama in Hollyoaks this week, it was lovely to see the teenagers enjoying their own makeshift prom in the Hutch. The current crop of schoolkids are very watchable – Ollie and Brooke are just the cutest, and I think Juliet should give Imran a chance. He might bring out her nicer side!

👤 | Kylie, Manchester

I'm sure she does have a nicer side, buried deep in there!

OUT OF CONTROL

I'm really shocked at the way Geoff has been trying to control Yasmeen in Coronation Street. I thought they were a good couple, but now it seems he's not a very nice man at all.

After the way her cheating ex-husband Sharif treated her, Yasmeen deserves to be in a happy relationship.

👤 | Rick

Corrie star Ian Bartholomew (Geoff) talks to us more about this disturbing plot on p40.

END OF AN ERA

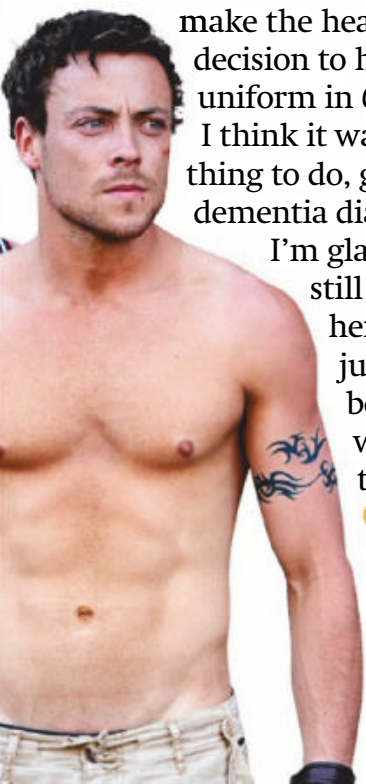

It was so sad watching Duffy make the heartbreaking decision to hang up her uniform in Casualty.

I think it was the right thing to do, given her dementia diagnosis, but I'm glad there will still be a role for her in the ED. It just wouldn't be the same without Duffy there.

👤 | April

I agree – Duffy's a Casualty icon!

The BIG DEBATE!

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

BOBBY'S BACK IN WALFORD

Haunted by his terrible past, returning to the Square was never going to be easy for killer Bobby – and opinion is divided about whether or not he should have been welcomed home by his family...

I feel really sorry for Bobby. Coming home is a huge step, and his dad Ian couldn't even look him in the eye. What he did to Lucy was awful, but he's served his time, and he should be allowed to get on with his life now. Although what hope does he have when everyone hates him?

👤 | Mike

It's really nice how Ben is looking out for Bobby – after all, they have a lot in common. Ben knows what it's like to come back to the Square after killing someone, so I think he could be the one to take Bobby under his wing and help him to settle in.

I'm not sure Ben is the best role model for Bobby! What he really needs is his mum Jane to keep him on the straight and narrow...

Where is Jane now Bobby's home? Considering she was the one who covered up Lucy's murder and made his situation so much worse, you would think she'd be there to see him now that he's back. Kathy is being more of a parent to Bobby right now.

👤 | Tim, Glasgow

But Bobby never attacked Kathy with a hockey stick!

Bobby being home is so silly. He killed his own sister and attacked his mum, for goodness sake! It's no wonder Ian can't bear to be around him. There is no way he'd go back to living on the Square if this was a real-life situation.

👤 | Petra

Often real life is stranger than fiction, though...

Caught in the MIDDLE!

NEIGHBOURS STARS
RYAN MOLONEY AND
MADELEINE WEST
REVEAL TOADIE'S
IN FOR THE SHOCK
OF HIS LIFE...

Wed, then dead?:
The mystery of what happened to Dee in 2003
is about to be solved!

NEIGHBOURS | Channel 5 MONDAY

Ever since Madeleine West returned to our screens two-and-a-half years ago, the question ‘is Dee alive?’ has been on our minds. We may now finally have our answer, but the drama’s not over by a long shot! After their dangerous altercation on a cliff top, the real Dee – who has been living as ‘Karen’ – and imposter Andrea both rush to Erinsborough, desperate to convince Toadie they’re the real deal. But can Toadie work out which woman is his true love?

It’s certainly one of Neighbours’ more outrageous storylines, and as we chat to Madeleine (aka Andrea/Dee/Karen) and Ryan Moloney (who plays just Toadie), they’re loving the sky-high drama...

So, Toadie finally comes face to face with both Andrea and Dee this week. How on earth does he react?

Ryan It’s a crazy scene! Toadie’s thinking, ‘Have I taken some medication and not been aware of what it is?’ Toadie’s totally stumped by it. It’s an understatement to say that he’s in shock – who wouldn’t be?

Madeleine Well, how does a person react when he sees the woman who was not just his first love and supposedly died on their wedding day, but also the woman who pretended to be his first love, and then went on to have his child? His brain probably combusts!

Let’s wind back a bit. Madeleine, can you tell us what happens between Andrea and Dee when they meet on the cliff?

Madeleine There’s a full face-off between the two of them – it’s very dramatic, and one of them goes over! It’s a beautiful throwback to Dee going off the cliff on her wedding day.

And later we have Andrea turning up on Toadie’s doorstep, pretending to be Dee – does Toadie fall for it?

Somers time: Andrea has fooled Toadie before – will she do it yet again?

It’s Dee day! But can Toadie work out which woman is which?

Ryan Toadie is definitely suspicious and trying to digest what’s unfolding in front of him. It’s more than surreal. It’s nuts!

Madeleine Andrea struggles because she’s pretended to be Dee before, so she knows she can’t pull off that performance again. But she met this new Dee on the cliff for only for a matter of minutes, so she’s attempting to patch together a convincing performance based on that – it’s such a desperate measure and she certainly goes for it!

But then the real Dee turns up and the fun starts! We know you don’t want to give away what happens, but did you ever dream it would reach this incredible climax?

Madeleine Not for a moment. I knew they’d left the storyline open, as they wanted Dee to return at some point. It was my choice to leave the show back then – it was time to move on.

Ryan To be honest, I’ve seen so many outrageous things during my 25 years on Neighbours, I know that nothing is impossible! The challenge, I think, was Madeleine reprising the role and fitting everything in with her manic schedule – she’s an incredibly busy lady!

What has been viewers’ reaction to Andrea?

Ryan I’m not on social media, but I’ve heard from the digital team that the fans are eating up the story! They have conspiracy theories too – many think Dee is faking it and that Andrea and Dee are in on the scam together. I love that the audience is so invested in the story.

Madeleine They love to hate Andrea, which is exactly what you want from these heartfelt villains. I think people empathise with her situation, but the way she goes about it is so daft. It’s one thing to play a nice guy or an out-and-out black heart, but to play that middle ground with someone who has good intentions, yet goes about it in the wrong way, is so much fun.

Has there been a part of this story that’s been tricky for you to play?

Ryan Not for me, but I’m sure for Madeleine it’s a challenge playing two different people in a scene. She has the ability to play them completely differently, and it’s so believable.

Madeleine It was an incredible challenge, but I thoroughly enjoyed it!

Ryan, have you enjoyed working with Madeleine again 16 years on?

Ryan You can’t help but enjoy working with Madeleine. She brings so much energy and is so well prepared – the only problem is, she really shows me up!

Alice Penwill

Toadie’s brain probably combusts!
MADELEINE

ALL WORK and no play...

As a mother of six children (aged between four and 13), Madeleine’s home life sounds particularly hectic!

“I’m a very hands-on mum,” she says. “But I’ve reached a point where my kids are more independent, and that allows me to pursue my career much more full-throttle.”

Incredibly, Madeleine has found time to star in another show – as a WAG in football drama Playing For Keeps – and is about to film the second series.

“I knew from the start that Geoff may not be as nice as he seemed!”

IAN BARTHOLOMEW ON HIS ALTER EGO'S HARD-HITTING NEW PLOT...

There have been many Street residents we've suspected could turn supervillain. Gary has always been a bit shifty, and Nick's long been heading down a dark path – while we reckon Adam could walk a questionable moral line if under pressure, and even that handsome Dr Ali killed someone last year! But languishing well down our list would have been Tim's loveable dad and amateur magician, Geoff.

Yet all that has changed of late, as we've seen Geoff gradually undermine his partner Yasmeen's confidence, and isolate her from her friends and family. However, as Ian Bartholomew, who plays Geoff, joins us for his first chat about the shocking storyline, it seems that we shouldn't have been so surprised about Geoff's sinister side...

“We have been trying to feed small clues without being obvious, because that is what is true to real life,” reveals the actor. “There have been a few pointers that Geoff hasn't always been Mr Nice Guy from very early on. I knew when I was first brought in to the programme as Tim's dad that the character might turn a bit dark, so it wasn't unexpected. For the first few months it was ‘nice Geoff’, ‘funny Geoff’ and ‘silly Geoff’. But now it is slowly becoming apparent that there is something missing in Geoff's psychological make-up.”

Although there's no doubt Geoff's actions are contemptible, Ian insists they come from a love for Yasmeen – even if it is a twisted one – with her lust for life and independent nature leaving Geoff insecure.

“At the moment he's so vulnerable, and scared of being left on his own,” explains Ian. “He is misguided, which becomes unpleasant, and we will see the true extent of his behaviour when the story develops.”

Indeed, Coronation Street has revealed that this storyline will explore coercive control in a relationship – where one half of a relationship, such as Geoff, isolates, manipulates and undermines their partner – and Ian is delighted at the challenge the storyline brings.

“As something for an actor to get his teeth into, it is going to be interesting, yet it is also a privilege to be trusted with such an important plot that I hope will make a difference,” shares the actor. “The Geoff that everybody sees is the Geoff that everybody likes. But the Geoff that I know, the bad

Geoff, the coercive control Geoff, is a person who would hide that from the outside world. That's why he has friends, and why it's hard to spot the traits that make somebody into that sort of character, and force them into that sort of behaviour.”

Meanwhile, Ian is bracing himself for a backlash from Coronation Street's loyal fans as the plot continues...

“I'm not sure viewers are going to be happy!” admits the actor, who joined the Corrie cast last year. “Geoff is mistreating Yasmeen and I'm sure that's not going to go down very well, so I'm going to keep my head low and wear lots of disguises. I'll wear a beard and a moustache and a big hat!”

Steven Murphy

Something is missing in Geoff's psychological make-up...

Prince Charming: But will Yasmeen see what her partner's really like?

True colours:
Geoff's mask begins to slip

Turn up the DAAL!

Romance blossoms at the restaurant...

While Geoff and Yasmeen's relationship may be doomed, love strikes elsewhere this week. Despite their false start a few weeks ago, Michelle notices there's still a spark between her son Ryan and Ayla. With Ryan DJing at Speed Daal, there's plenty of time for flirting. The pair are amused when they realise Michelle is trying to set them up, and have fun pretending to go along with her wishes. But secretly the pair are masking their true feelings – until passion explodes with a sizzling snog!

The kiss marks the start of a big new romance, and Sair Khan, who plays Ayla, approves.

"They're chalk and cheese, but I like that!" she says. "I'd never have put them together, but actually they are perfect, as she balances Ryan and he's already bringing out a more playful side to Ayla."

Stabbing pain: Evan winds up in a hospital bed after being attacked

HOLBY CITY | BBC1 WEDNESDAY

Till death do us part!

EVAN IS STABBED – AND ASKS CHLOE TO MARRY HIM! AMY LENNOX GIVES US ALL THE GORY DETAILS...

How Chlo' can you go?: The Holby registrar has been through a difficult time

Poor Chloe has been on one hell of a roller coaster since joining the ranks of Holby. While attempting to manage her issues with panic attacks and self-harming, the talented young doctor has learned that Dom is her half-brother.

Meanwhile, Chloe's manipulative and possessive boyfriend, Evan, is tightening his grip on her in a story that is to propel the pair into frightening new territory. Actress Amy Lennox, who plays Chloe, joins us to dissect an eventful few months...

Where do we start, Amy? Poor Chloe has had it really tough!

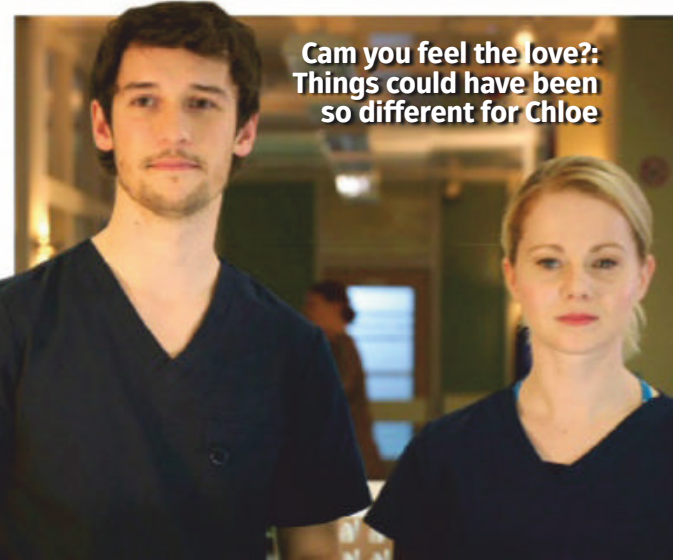

I know, it's been pretty full on! Chloe's having to face these demons that I think she thought she was done with, but joining Holby and working with her mum has brought it all back on! And with Evan, it's safe to say that Chloe can't see that he's not the best companion for her!

Evan is stabbed by a patient this week, and proposes to Chloe! What happens?

An aggressive woman grabs a pair of scissors and stabs him in the chest – and Chloe just freaks as she can see it's right near the heart. Even though Evan's life is at risk, he's still playing the game. It's not as if he planned to get stabbed and yet he goes with it. He seizes his opportunity and says to Chloe, "I don't want to die not being your husband – will you marry me?"

How did you find filming the scenes with Jack Ryder, aka Evan?

Well, the woman playing the patient who stabs him is actually one of my best friends – Roxanne Palmer! Her character is such a nutter, but in real life Roxanne is a really funny person, so I found it hard to keep a straight face. And Jack is a lovely guy, so it's very creepy when he plays Evan. I find myself saying to him, "That's scary, and I don't like it!"

Can you feel the love?: Things could have been so different for Chloe

Losing patients:
Karen is the woman who attacks Evan

Are you secretly rooting for Chloe to get together with Cameron, as we know he has a crush on her?

I wish she'd picked Cameron from the start, and then none of this would have happened! Unfortunately, she didn't, and the journey Chloe's set to go on becomes a long one. There isn't really any room for romance with anyone else. It's only going to get worse for her!

What do you do outside of work to switch off from all this drama?

I relax and do something fun. I was absolutely drained the other week after doing some really intense and emotional stuff. But it comes in waves on Holby – it's really full-on, and then you get a breather where you can be yourself again!

If Sadie sticks around, who do you think she would be friends with in the village?

I think Sadie would like to be friends with Mercedes – but

“Kerry’s not so good on her own... she self-destructs!”

When Emmerdale couple Kerry and Dan split up, we knew the men of Yorkshire and beyond would need to brace themselves. Since she’s been single, our Kerry has been looking for a good time – and she found it with Nate, who just happens to be her daughter Amy’s new love interest! So far, Amy doesn’t know that her mum bunked up with her bloke, but in soap, these things tend to come out in the end. However, this week, there’s a big showdown between mam and daughter – and Kerry finds herself out in the cold anyway.

“Kerry just can’t stop shooting herself in the foot – she can’t help it!” groans Laura Norton, who plays the

EMMERDALE’S

LAURA NORTON...

Date Nate: Both Amy and Kerry have bedded the newcomer disorderly drunkard. "I always think her intentions are good and she wants the best or the most fun, but she makes really bad decisions."

Disaster just follows her."

That's certainly true this week, when she persuades Amy and new housemate Tracy to have a girlie day. The problem is that Tracy and Amy have both slept with Nate, and they don't even know that Kerry makes a hat-trick.

Kerry watches on in horror as the girls snipe, fall out and then storm off, leaving her alone and bored. As anyone who knows Kerry is aware, this is not a helpful place for her to be.

"Kerry's not very good on her own – it's her Achilles heel," declares Laura. "All her insecurities have been pressed. She sees Dan getting on with his life and that Amy has got her own life and doesn't really need her and it makes her feel down and sad. That's when she reverts back to self-destruct."

After getting glammed up, Kerry heads to the Woolpack and gets blind drunk. Not only does she disgrace herself and make a pass at stunned Dan, but she also disgusts her daughter.

"Kerry can't see the disaster she's caused – she didn't mean for the consequences to get this out of hand,"

I'd tell Kerry to stop drinking for the sake of her health!

says Laura. "But whatever Amy's experienced from Kerry in the past, she's come back to Emmerdale with really high hopes that it is different this time. To be let down so quickly after returning, it's like, 'I can't believe you have done this to me'. To protect herself, Amy's walls just go straight back up and Kerry's like, 'Uh-oh!'"

Given that Amy's already livid with her mum, and threatening to disown her, Kerry better hope that she never discovers the truth about Nate. If Laura were Kerry's mate, what advice would she give her about this mess?

"I'd tell her to stop drinking for the sake of her health," she informs us. "Alcohol always gets her into bad situations. But I'd also tell her to fix whatever's damaged her in the first place. She needs some counselling. If she can do that, it will inevitably help her be a better friend and a better parent, and to make better life decisions. Kerry definitely needs a bit of that!"

Fortunately for Laura, her real-life relationship with screen daughter Natalie Ann Jamieson doesn't have any of these problems. In fact, they share a special bond.

"Natalie is so lovely, she's like a little ray of sunshine!" enthuses Laura. "It's really nice when you've been at Emmerdale a long while and you get somebody who comes into it and finds everything so exciting. It just reminds you of how brilliant this job is!"

Kate White

IS DAN THE MAN?

Laura tells us if Kerry and her ex could yet be reunited...

This week sees Kerry make overtures to ex-fiancé Dan Spencer, the man whose heart she broke a few months ago. Is this the start of a reunion?

"No, I think Kerry is just lonely and Dan says something that she reads too much into," explains Laura. "It's that classic thing when you've been in a relationship and it hasn't been long [since you split], and you think, 'Have I done the right thing? Is there something still there?' Kerry knows there isn't, but she can't help herself."

What, then, would Laura like to see the story team come up with for her alter ego?

"I'd love to find out exactly what happened to Kerry to make her act so ridiculously," explains the actress. "Maybe there could be a Kerry flashback episode! Or maybe she could have another baby and see if, this time, she can do things differently!"

1 Jayne Claire Seed was born in Bradford on 10 January 1962. She grew up in Harrogate with her brother, her sister, and their parents, John and Angela. Claire started to work as a DJ, before deciding she wanted to begin an acting career.

2 Claire changed her name when she registered at the actors' union. She went by her middle name already, and after finding out that there was another actress registered as 'Claire Seed', she changed her surname to King. King came from her love of horse riding – known as the 'sport of kings' – as well as after her favourite singer, Elvis 'The King' Presley!

3 Claire worked as a DJ, and later managed and played in a punk rock band. After her career moved her to London, the star began working as an actress. Claire made her first soap appearance in 1989 – as an extra during James Willmott-Brown's trial in EastEnders.

4 Claire joined Emmerdale as Kim Tate, wife of Frank, in 1989. The pair moved into Home Farm, but when Kim's son James was born, he was the result of an affair with farmhand Dave Glover. Kim later faked her own death – then came 'back from the dead', giving Frank a fatal heart attack! Kim departed the village in 1999 in a helicopter, along with young James, but returned to Home Farm in 2018. "My name was kept a secret on the scripts," reveals Claire. "I had to park around the back so the fans couldn't see me!"

5 Just like Kim, Claire loves horses! She even owns a few racehorses, and has her own stables. She also lives in a manor house that looks not unlike Home Farm – a beautiful converted barn near Harrogate, which she shares with her dogs, who even have their own room! “I do get recognised a lot,” admits Claire. “Which is one of the reasons I chose a place so remote.”

back into the wild. “I’m an outdoorsy person,” reveals Claire. “For the show, I lived in Africa for about a month, which was a dream come true for me.” Claire ultimately finished in third place, but went further in the contest than her fellow soap stars Blair McDonough (Neighbours’ Stuart Parker), Brooke Kinsella (EastEnders’ Kelly Taylor) and Paul Usher (Brookside’s Barry Grant).

6 Claire has had an eventful love life, and when she was 17, had a fling with Bob Geldof! Years later, she met Peter Amory, who played her stepson, Chris Tate in Emmerdale. The pair soon began dating and married in 1994, although they later separated. “Nobody was to blame really,” sighs Claire. “We kind of grew apart. I had given him a second chance – it’s all right now and we’re friends.”

9 Claire’s other TV roles include governor Karen Betts in Bad Girls and a role as an evil gangster in Hollyoaks late night spin-off In The City. “The good thing about Bad Girls was that there were 30 or 40 women all together, and we had such a laugh,” says Claire. “There wasn’t any bitching, which you’d think there would be. Everyone was so down to earth.”

WORDS: ALICE PENWILL. PHOTOS: GETTY, REX/SHUTTERSTOCK

7 In 2014, Claire transferred to the cobbles, where she played Erica Holroyd – a friend of Liz McDonald’s. Erica instantly hit it off with Nick Tilsley, and became pregnant with his baby, which she sadly lost after a miscarriage. Later, Erica became the on-off girlfriend of Dev, but left the Street on bad terms with almost everyone! “It was great being on Corrie!” grins Claire. “It was more or less the same as Emmerdale, just with different faces.”

8 Back in 2007, Claire flew over to Africa to take part in the reality TV show Safari School. A group of celebrities began training to become game wardens, and the winner got to release two big cats

10 Claire admits that she hasn’t always had the best reaction from fans, who recognise her as Kim. “I was once hit over the head with an umbrella in M&S by an old lady,” reveals Claire. “Just because I had been cruel to Frank!” Claire also admits that the reactions from some fans made her feel apprehensive about taking on her most famous part once more. “I was nervous about doing the role justice again,” says Claire. “Everybody’s a critic now, thanks to social media, and some of the comments can be very cutting.”

The Inside Soap AWARDS 2019

Here's your chance to reward your favourite soaps for all they've given you over the past year – by casting your vote in the Inside Soap Awards 2019!

Throughout the past 12 months, viewers have once again enjoyed a truly brilliant selection of episodes, and we're ready to name the very best at Britain's biggest soap awards – with a staggering 17 trophies up for grabs!

Corrie has seen the Platt family at war, and witnessed Carla's meltdown after the shocking factory collapse – while Emmerdale took us on a night out that no one will ever forget, and the Dingles experienced terrible grief.

EastEnders had Sharon in a pickle after an ill-advised tickle with Keanu, while plucky Linda took on evil Stuart – and Hollyoaks saw powerful drama as abusive Buster was exposed, and we watched teen Lily tragically pass away.

On top of all that action, there's your favourite daytime shows and medical dramas to have your say about too – so, don't delay... GET VOTING!

LUCY PARGETER TALKS ABOUT HER RECENT LIFE-CHANGING DECISION...

Emmerdale's Lucy Pargeter – aka Woolpack landlady Chas Dingle – has spoken about the removal of her breast implants.

The actress had her first breast enlargement when she was just 21 years old, followed by a second procedure at 32. Referring to the implants as “toxic bags” that caused “massive problems”, Lucy underwent the removal process after years of suffering with anxiety, and pain in her joints and chest. Immediately after the surgery, she candidly shared: “They are out. I’m flat as a pancake. I look awful, but feel good.”

Lucy kept a video diary of her procedure for Channel 4 programme Dispatches, and confessed she was astonished at how much the removal liberated her rib cage. “I forgot what it was like to have a full lung of air,” she said. “It’s amazing.”

THESE GUYS TAKE MALE GROOMING TO ANOTHER LEVEL...

If you thought glamour was just for the ladies of soap, you're sorely mistaken! Corrie's Chris Gascoyne (Peter) visited his barbers' in Manchester recently to keep his beard in check. The silver fox shared a snap of his neater look, and we must say, we approve!

Elsewhere, EastEnders actor Jamie Borthwick (who plays Jay) also took to social media to reveal his new hairdo. The Walford star went for a traditional short back and sides, while Emmerdale's Joe-Warren Plant (aka Jacob) also had a hair makeover – keeping his locks out of his face with braids while playing in a charity football match. Looking good, boys!

A BIG SEND-OFF!

Maya might be the most hated person in the Dales, but Louisa Clein has made a lot of friends playing her on set! Now her time as Maya is over, Louisa's colleagues grouped together to send her off in style, with a well-deserved leaving party! They also gave the Spurs-loving star a personalised Tottenham Hotspur shirt, signed by the cast, as a farewell gift. Louisa said her co-stars were "the best team I could ever dream of".

DARK MONEY | BBC1 MON & TUES

PAYING THE PRICE

The old adage ‘money can’t buy happiness’ has arguably never been better illustrated than by this new four-part drama. The story centres on The Mensahs, a north London working-class family, whose youngest son has just arrived back home after starring in a major Hollywood movie.

But their world is shattered when Isaac (Max Fincham) reveals to his parents that he was sexually abused by the film’s producer while over in the US. Although wracked with guilt, the family accepts a major pay-off to keep quiet, thinking that the money will help them to avoid the inevitable publicity of pressing charges against a celeb, and to start a new life. They couldn’t be more wrong...

“For me, it’s pointing at the countless settlements we have in our society,” explains Babou Ceesay, who plays Isaac’s dad, Manny. “Just to say, ‘I’m going to pay you for this, and we’ll leave it at that’. So if you have money and can pay for your slights, what does that mean?”

Said pay-out has clearly made the family’s way of life more decadent, as the series opens during a pool party in the couple’s lavish new home. But it’s evident from the get-go that the wounds of the abuse their son suffered runs deep...

“Manny is facing the biggest question he’s ever had to face,” shares Babou. “It’s so overwhelming for him; he’s almost stunted and doesn’t know what to do next. Every decision he makes, he second-guesses and pulls back.”

Isaac’s mum, Sam, also struggles to come to terms

In too deep: Isaac contemplates his time in Hollywood with the revelation of her son’s molestation, and some of her subsequent decision-making has major consequences...

“Sam makes some very questionable choices,” reveals

“SAM DOES THINGS THAT VIEWERS WILL BE SHOCKED ABOUT” JILL

Dark past: Time will tell the effects of Isaac's trauma

Jill Halfpenny, who plays her. "There are things she does that viewers will be shocked about, and rightly so. But she's human – people mess up and are full of remorse – and she's also full of fight."

The issue of abuse within the film industry has of course been garnering headlines of late, making this fictionalised telling particularly apt. But it's more about the ramifications such an incident has on a family.

"It doesn't start saying this is the right or wrong thing to do, or judge," explains Babou. "So even though it is timely, and it will, I hope, affect people, we're bringing it back to the victim, and how they cope with the decisions that they make."

But while it's heavy subject matter, working with the young people of the cast has brought some joy to filming...

"Working with the younger members of the cast has been a delight," shares Jill. "Because the script is intense, they need a sense of fun when we're not shooting. They'd giggle and get told off, then we'd laugh, and blame it on them!"

Comedian Lou Sanders tells us her dream viewing...

This Time With Alan Partridge

I don't really watch much drama – I hate all the crime ones, they're scary! Yuck, no, thanks! On the drama scale, I go about as far as watching Catastrophe – which I loved.

Sorry to be obvious, but my top three comedies of recent times are Fleabag, This Time With Alan Partridge and The Luke McQueen Pilots. With Fleabag, the acting and writing are so succinct and incredible – nothing is wasted. And the chemistry between Phoebe Waller-Bridge and Andrew Scott is so good – and he's gay, so that's really good acting!

I never re-watch films, and I have a unique, enchanting – very annoying – trait in that I never know who's in any film, or whether I've even watched it before! Although, hang on, I do know that I loved Hunt For The Wilderpeople – that was great.

My favourite show to relax with is First Dates – blimey, I love that show. Guessing if they'll get together, seeing all sorts of people, the way that they're matched so well... it's glorious. Plus you don't have to pay full attention like you do when you're watching scripted TV!

I loved The House Of Elliott when I was growing up, and Blue Peter was a lovely, innocent show. I had a Blue Peter badge, but I never got in anywhere for free with it. It was pre-internet, so good luck finding out where you could go with that badge, then getting your parents to take you!

What do you mean you're NOT watching...

ACKLEY BRIDGE | Channel 4 TUESDAY

THIS SCHOOL SAGA HAS BEEN making some bold storyline choices in its third series – including the shocking and sudden death of a major character. But we're pleased that Ackley Bridge isn't shying away from exploring the repercussions of the death of a loved one, and how grief can make people behave in unexpected ways. Top of the class, then, for commitment to a story with long-lasting effects while still dealing with the everyday business of education, and the ongoing challenges faced by dedicated but under-resourced headteacher Mandy (the ever-excellent Jo Joyner)...

RUFUS WRIGHT STEPS INTO NEIL ARMSTRONG'S BOOTS FOR A DOCU-DRAMA ABOUT APOLLO 11...

Nearly 50 years ago, Neil Armstrong made history by becoming the first man to walk on the Moon, and his speech of "one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind" was heard around the world. But for all the attention that was on the astronauts at that moment, there are still many parts of the story that we don't know. This documentary uses fresh footage of actors alongside recordings of astronauts Neil Armstrong, Buzz Aldrin and Michael Collins to give us an insight into life in space. Inside TV caught up with Rufus Wright, who plays Armstrong, to find out more...

What can we expect to see in the programme?

It's really a forensic analysis of what the Moon landings would have been like for the astronauts doing it, and for mission control, and it uses original audio from the Apollo 11 mission, which has only recently been declassified. The three actors recreate it as precisely as possible – there's nothing made-up, it's absolutely verbatim.

So we'll be seeing a more human side to them?

Exactly. There are a few times where I think Buzz and Michael tease Neil because he's spent less time in orbit than they have, so they call him "the rookie over there", and he shuts them up because he's in charge!

How does playing a real person in a docudrama feel different from playing them in a drama?

It's very interesting, because we were lip-synching – I mean, we spoke rather than miming because it's much easier to speak the lines, but we're all talking alongside the audio, and we spent hours listening to it until we were effectively speaking in the same register as the astronauts. As an acting exercise, you're trying to recreate something rather than

LONDON'S GREAT BRIDGES: LIGHTING THE THAMES

THAMES FATE

CHARLIE LUXTON FILLS US IN ON THE BRIGHTEST ENGINEERING PROJECT FOR LONDON'S RIVER...

Far from London Bridge falling down, the city's landmark is to be lit up in such spectacular fashion, even Blackpool will be going green. In this new series, architectural designer Charlie Luxton looks at the work of The Illuminated River Foundation, responsible for a £45 million project to light all 15 of the Thames' bridges. Inside TV spoke to Charlie for enlightenment...

"The biggest challenge is getting everyone to agree, because the ownership and control over the bridges is across so many disparate groups' hands," explains the presenter. "So it wasn't so much the physical installation of the lights, but can you get all of these people to come with you on that journey?"

Nonetheless, fitting the 100,000 lights is no mean make something new – so it was creative, in an unusual way!

Did you find out anything you didn't know before?

Mission control intended for them to land, switch off all the relevant things, then sleep for four hours, and Neil was like, "We're not going to have a nap, we've just landed on the Moon!" So they changed the schedule and said, "We're going to start getting ready, and in three hours we're going to step out of the hatch!"

feat, and Charlie viewed that first-hand by having a crack at abseiling...

"I've done quite a lot of rock-climbing, so on the one hand you think, 'I'm fine with this'. Then there's the moment of going over the bridge, at night, the Thames running underneath you at speed, knowing that if you drop in there... yeah, there's a safety boat, but still... it's not going to be great! I have enormous respect for those men and women dangling off the bridges, night after night, getting them ready!"

GOING TO EXTREMES

SION DANIEL YOUNG STARS IN A ONE-OFF DRAMA ABOUT FAR-RIGHT RADICALISATION...

The team behind powerful single dramas Don't Take My Baby and Murdered By My Father returns with another fact-based film – this time looking at the rise of the far right in Britain. Sion Daniel Young stars as Gethin, who works in a fast-food restaurant on zero hours and sleeps on his sister's sofa – but now they've been given an eviction notice.

As Gethin's life heads in a downward spiral, he's vulnerable, angry and looking for someone to blame. So, encouraged by his friends and things he's read online, he lashes out at the local Muslim community.

"The awful stuff in his life is only awful because it doesn't start from that point," explains Sion. "Joe [Bulman, the director] and I talked about the good things he has going on, and the reasons for him to resist this stuff for as long as he possibly could."

The drama takes place in the suburbs of Cardiff, where many residents are living a precarious existence due to a shortage of housing and steady work. And it's a world Cardiff-born Sion is familiar with...

"These types of roles don't come around often," shares the actor. "I watch dramas set all over England, which is why it meant so much to me to be a part of something set in a world I know. I did not want to watch someone else get Alan [Harris]'s script and Joe's direction. I was like, 'No, mine!'"

Zero gravity: Gethin is low paid and soon to be homeless...

RACE TO THE DEATH: ROME'S CHARIOTEERS | Channel 4 8PM

Horses for courses

In the ancient Olympic Games, sports included boxing with no time limits, pankration – a form of mixed martial art with only two rules: no biting and no gouging – and chariot racing, in which the driver was often entangled in the reins and dragged to death. Blimey. We thought bobsleigh was hairy. Anyway, it's those horse-drawn vehicles this documentary focuses on, even building a Roman chariot to recreate the drama of the races, with new evidence revealing the truth about the crowds, riots and curses cast on drivers to the huge prizes that made some drivers the best-paid sports stars in history. It also uncovers the story of Scorus – a slave who became Rome's most successful charioteer.

KILLING EVE | BBC1 9.15PM

The Ghost has been caught, but interrogation tactics are proving fruitless in gathering intel, and even when Eve tries to break the assassin's spirit (see what we did there?), you start to wonder who's really asking the questions. So, with no other avenues left to go down, Eve strikes a potentially deadly deal. Elsewhere, the MI6 team sits through a slideshow looking like a bunch of bored schoolkids in assembly. But there are hidden depths to the presentation... Meanwhile, long-suffering Nico's in Oxford on a school trip, where he gets a surprise visit – only to be hit by an even bigger bombshell.

WAR IN THE BLOOD | BBC2 9PM

The extra trial

"The beginning of the end of cancer." Sounds good, doesn't it – but what does it take to get us there? This documentary follows two patients – Graham, 53, and Mahmoud, 18 – as they take part in a trial that could spark a revolution in the treatment of cancer. To ensure the accuracy of the results, the two are treated on different floors of the hospital and not allowed to meet – but they share an indisputable bond.

Phase 1 trials such as this are for terminally ill patients who have exhausted all other avenues of treatment, and are essentially human guinea pigs for the procedure. As Graham puts it, "It could be brilliant – or it could kill me. But someone's got to go first, right? Otherwise nothing gets done..."

TIPPING POINT: LUCKY STARS | ITV 8PM

Ben Shephard returns tonight with a new series of the game show that favours those of us who wasted our youth in those penny-pushing machines down the arcades. We'll be chatting to Ben about the thrills and spills of this star-studded run in next week's issue – including finding out his all-time favourite wrong answer that a celebrity has given to a question – but for tonight's opener, he's joined by Alan Davies, Sally Phillips and Dr Ranj Singh, who are all hoping that luck will be on their side as they drop their counters into the machine in the hope of winning £20,000 to donate to their chosen charity.

RED BULL SOAPBOX RACE 2019: LONDON | Dave 5PM

Amateur racers of all shapes, sizes and backgrounds will be gathering at Alexandra Palace tonight with their hand-crafted carts, but one common factor unites them all: gravity is coming for them.

Vick Hope, Tim Warwood and Adam Gendle will be track-side meeting the teams and finding out what drives them (other than physics), while Darren Fletcher provides commentary to the action.

GOTHAM | E4 10PM

The on-screen talent is pulling double-duty in an episode written by Ben McKenzie (Gordon) and directed by Erin Richards (Barbara). Having been left in a coma after a shootout, Gordon dreams of being put on trial for his failings in life...

LOUIS THEROUX: EXTREME LOVE - DEMENTIA | W 10PM

In this documentary first aired on BBC2 in 2012, Louis travels to Phoenix, Arizona – which happens to be the dementia care capital of the world. Louis meets two couples to find out how dementia impacts upon their relationships.

LONG LOST FAMILY | ITV 9PM

Molecular match

Kathleen Jackson discovered she was adopted at the age of 14 – in a meeting with a school counsellor, when a piece of paper revealing the truth dropped out of a folder onto the floor. It's far from an ideal way to receive life-changing news – and for Kathleen, whose adoptive mother had died when she was three, it was doubly devastating. “It made me realise that I'd lost two mums,” she explains in tonight's episode.

Although Kathleen has some information on her birth mother, the team's usual methods don't yield any results, so they try a different approach: submitting a sample of Kathleen's DNA to an online database. A match comes up for a half-sibling in Canada, who confirms that Kathleen's mum is still alive...

EXTREME TRIBE: THE LAST PYGMIES | Channel 4 9PM

Regional variations

In the depths of the Congo, pygmy tribe the Mbendjele live almost entirely cut off from the world – although, for the purposes of this programme, they're a little less so, as they're joined by filmmaker Livia Simoka, who is spending five months with one family to gain first-hand experience of what day-to-day life is like for them. She witnesses distinctive traditions and learns about the encroaching danger that the outside world poses. In this opening episode, Livia arrives in Bonguinda to meet her hosts, and finds out how the Mbendjele are exploited by a larger rival tribe nearby.

DIVORCE | Sky Atlantic 10PM

Season two of this post-marriage comedy ended on a quietly hopeful note, which made us wonder if perhaps that was the end of the story – but there’s clearly still plenty more awkwardness ahead for Frances (Sarah Jessica Parker) and Robert (Thomas Haden Church). With the couple’s divorce now official, Robert is engaged to new girlfriend Jackie, while Frances tries to lean in to the single life...

WACO | Alibi 9PM

David Koresh’s group is starting to attract attention, and ATF agent Jacob Vasquez commences undercover surveillance on the compound. But as he cultivates a fake friendship with Koresh, will he find anything incriminating?

BIG LITTLE LIES | Sky Atlantic 9PM

All we know about this episode at the time of writing is that it’s called ‘Kill Me’, and that’s a phrase that’s fairly weighty with subtext on this show. Still, what we’ve seen of season two makes us confident it will still be unmissable telly, nonetheless.

THE GREAT GARDENING CHALLENGE | Channel 5 8PM

Fresh grounds

Nicki Chapman and Diarmuid Gavin host the second episode in the series that aims to unearth (ho) Britain's most budding (double ho) gardeners. And this week's heat comes with an added twist: the green-fingered pairings are not only partners in business but also in life, as husbands Jon and Adam take on husband-and-wife duo Catherine and James.

Their challenge is to deliver an amazing space for the Knightswood Day Care Centre in Asheldham, Essex, which has provided a brief including sensory elements, seating and a potting shed. Both teams have got ambitious designs, but can they deliver them in just 48 hours, and on a £5,000 budget, or will they lose the plot? (Triple ho! No? Oh, fine.)

DRAG SOS | Channel 4 10PM

The Family Gorgeous continues its road trip to transform the UK's introverted types into bigger, bolder, braver versions of themselves. Oh, and there's glitter: lots of glitter. Tonight, the Family is in Scarborough to meet fitness instructor Mark, 40, nominated by his fiancée Laura who wants him to learn not to be such a control freak; David, 33, who's spent much of his life looking after his ill mother, and Fleur, 48, who has seen her self-esteem plummet after having two kids. Will their new drag personas help them garner enough confidence to put on a show in front of their friends and family?

TODAY AT THE GREAT YORKSHIRE SHOW | Channel 5 8PM

Moovers & shakers

If you haven't got a ticket or don't live in the Yorkshire area (or, indeed, don't fancy taking a 15-hour bus replacement service to get there), then fear not, as The Great Yorkshire Show comes to your tellybox. Anita Rani and Jules Hudson will be bringing us highlights from Harrogate's 161-year-old agricultural show – the largest of its kind in England, don'tcha know – featuring numerous exhibitors, livestock and food producers, plus thousands of animals competing in the judging rings. Anita and Jules will also be trying their hand at some of the creative stuff on offer (we're guessing cookery).

Also tonight, The Yorkshire Vet's Peter Wright and Julian Norton will be on hand to meet all creatures great and small.

GENERATION PORN | Channel 4 10PM

It's completely free of charge, available 24 hours a day, and no one need know that you're looking at it. With porn a mere click away for any of us, this series meets viewers, producers and stars to ask what the free porn revolution is doing to us – including 19-year-old Gia, who's wanted to do this job since she was (deep breath) 12. Her roommate Gianna, 21, was studying psychology, but after an agent approached her through Tinder, she moved to LA's 'Porn Valley'. The show also meets British parents and children who are having frank and awkward chats about their own experiences of porn...

WHY CAN'T WE SLEEP? | ITV 9PM

Waking nightmare

Has bedtime become anything but relaxing for you? Are you struggling to get enough sleep to see you through the next day? You're not alone: recent estimates suggest that a third of adults in the UK aren't getting the sleep they need, and that's slowly but surely having a negative impact on our health – which might be pushing the country towards a major public health crisis.

This documentary, narrated by Ranvir Singh, takes a look at the possible causes behind the nation's inability to catch some zzzs, and reveals the extent of the impact insomnia can have on our bodies. A group of problem sleepers will also be visiting one of the world's leading sleep research centres in search of a solution...

TOO GAY FOR GOD? | BBC1 10.35PM

The Reverend Jide Macauley is a minister in the Church of England, and a gay man who wants to marry his partner – which puts him in a difficult position, because the Church doesn't recognise same-sex marriage. In this documentary, Jide is on a mission to find out why the Church of England is so against gay marriage, and meets Andrew Foreshow-Cain, who's no longer able to practice as a vicar after marrying his husband. He also speaks to those from other denominations of the Christian faith, to find out how their stance on gay marriage squares with the Church of England's position.

SUPERCAR SUPERFAM | BBC3 10AM

Essex garage owners Kash and Shabs' sibling rivalries and slick whips (or fast cars, for the uninitiated) are back for a second series today. In the opening episode, Aini has a brand-new Lamborghini Huracán, and wants Kash to pimp it. But will covering the car boot in Swarovski crystals be what the the girl racer is after? Meanwhile, Shabs is busy expressing his feelings through spoken word...

HARLOTS | STARZPlay

Season three arrives on the streaming service today, and with both Margaret and Lydia now, erm, indisposed, it's time for the next generation of the Wells family to take over the brothel. Look out for Liv Tyler as a potential new ally for them.

RIVIERA | Sky Atlantic 9PM

Season two continues tonight as Georgina learns shocking news about Nico. But as she turns her attention to the proof, events take a horrifying turn... Elsewhere, as the family grows ever-more suspicious, will Irina crack under the pressure?

Seeing stars

If we ever meet the person in charge of casting this celeb series of telly reviews, we'll have to give them at the very least a warm handshake, and quite possibly a lengthy hug, because the stars in question are just so, so right for the show. Even the combinations that sounded odd at first have delivered us solid gold – we'll never forget the sight of Sheila Hancock and Gyles Brandreth watching Naked Attraction.

We don't know which shows are on the watch-list tonight, but we also suspect it doesn't matter when the critics are such great entertainment, so we're just looking forward to seeing what the likes of Rylan Clark-Neal and his mum Linda, and Laurence and Emilia Fox have to say about it all...

... and since celeb specials are very much the main draw on Channel 4 on Friday nights at the moment, here's who is destined for the Dome tonight: Ackley Bridge's Sunetra Sarker, TV presenter Matthew Wright, Hollyoaks star Nikki Sanderson, Love Island graduate Wes Nelson and, erm, MEP Ann Widdecombe. It's not quite a group of people you can imagine naturally forming a social circle, is it? Sunetra is serving as team captain, so let's hope she can get the gang working in harmony and avoid any of those pesky automatic lock-ins as they face Richard Ayoad's latest taxing trials.

AGATHA RAISIN | Sky One 9PM

Ashley Jensen returns as the slick and stylish PR guru who moved to the Cotswolds and subsequently developed a reputation as an amateur sleuth. In tonight's two-parter, Agatha returns home after a break and discovers that her coiffeur of choice is caught up in the middle of a mystery involving blackmail, conspiracy and murder. It's up to Agatha to solve the case, leaving no split – sorry, loose – ends.

CLASSIC ALBUM: THE CRICKETS... | BBC4 9PM

The series that performs a deep dive into some of the greatest recordings in history returns tonight, with a look at the very first album released by Buddy Holly. It's been cited as an inspiration by Mick Jagger and Paul McCartney.

CARRY ON FOREVER | ITV3 8.30PM

Whether you're a Matron, a Cowboy or a Doctor, there's something to cherish in this affectionate tribute. Martin Clunes is on narration duties, while former cast including Jim Dale, Amanda Barrie and June Whitfield share their memories.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

JENNIE McALPINE (Fiz Stape, Corrie)

IN We've missed having Fiz on our screens, while star Jennie has been off looking after her real-life baby, Hilda, who was born last October. But although the actress has been enjoying her maternity leave, she's about to start filming on the cobbles again! Jennie posted a picture of a new Corrie script on her Instagram page, commenting, "Friday night reading – Hoping it's just like riding a bike", and then added the hashtag #It'sbeenawhile. We're sure it will all be fine, Jennie, and we're looking forward to Fiz's comeback! Autumn

JO MARTIN (Max McGerry, Holby City)

IN Holby City is to welcome a new member of staff to the ward this autumn – consultant neurosurgeon Max McGerry, played by actress Jo Martin. Jo has previously popped up in small roles in EastEnders, Doctors and Hollyoaks, as well as dramas such as Jonathan Creek, Casualty and The Bill. "Watch out!"

tweeted the star. "I'm working with scalpels!" In the official BBC press release, Jo commented that she is "thrilled to be joining such an amazing show, which I have been a fan of for years. Playing Max will be a pleasure – she is very complex with no filter". Autumn

TIM KANO (Leo Tanaka, Neighbours)

OUT It's been three years since Leo and his twin brother David turned up in Erinsborough – only to find out that their father is Paul Robinson! Since his arrival, Leo has had flings with half-sister Amy and neighbour Mishti, and got involved in a love triangle with his dad and Terese – before moving on to her daughter Piper! We'll certainly never think of "playing croquet" quite the same way again. But now Leo is set to depart, with Tim's management confirming that the star is Hollywood-bound. Autumn

THE EX FILES!

Your update on the one-time stars of soap...

RYAN PUTS A RING ON IT

Congratulations are in order to Ryan Thomas (Corrie's Jason Grimshaw and Neighbours's Rafael Humphreys), who's just got engaged to girlfriend Lucy Mecklenburgh. The pair have been together for two years, after meeting on Celebrity Island With Bear Grylls in 2017, and Ryan popped the question while they were on holiday in Italy.

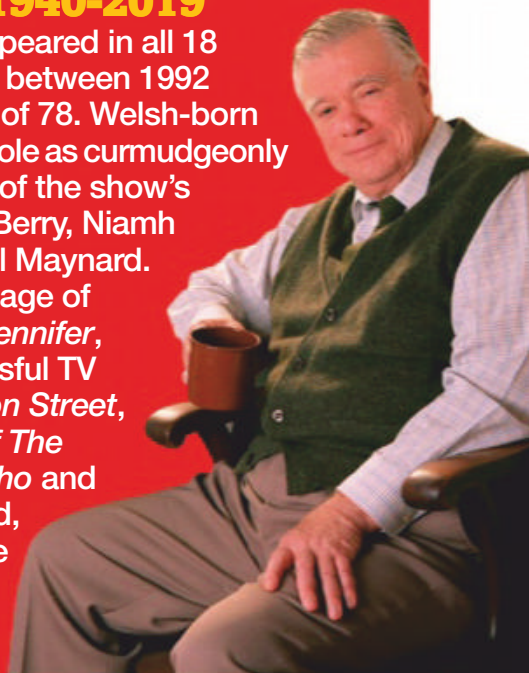

SHERRIE HEARS AGAIN!

Former soap actress Sherrie Hewson (Corrie's Maureen Webster and Emmerdale's Lesley Meredith) has revealed that she's going deaf, and has taken to using hearing aids. "They're so small, you can hardly see them," admits the 68-year-old star. "I couldn't believe the difference – I can hear everything now!"

WILLIAM SIMONS 1940-2019

Actor William Simons, who appeared in all 18 series of ITV drama Heartbeat between 1992 and 2010, has died at the age of 78. Welsh-born William was well known for his role as curmudgeonly PC Alf Ventress, and was one of the show's original stars, alongside Nick Berry, Niamh Cusack, Derek Fowlds and Bill Maynard. He made his film debut at the age of eight in 1949's No Place For Jennifer, and went on to have a successful TV career, appearing in Coronation Street, Casualty, Minder, Rumpole Of The Bailey, Juliet Bravo, Doctor Who and The Bill. After Heartbeat ended, William spent much of his time living in France with his wife Jackie, who survives him.

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

The way two-timer Robert is going, we wouldn't be surprised if he ends up marrying both Michelle and Vicky – swiping the Street's 'accidental bigamist' crown from Peter Barlow.

Remember when Ian thought that Garry Hobbs was Bobby's father? Cos, er... look how alike they are!

Welcome to Whitney's "I've got a new hairdo and zero idea my boyfriend is gay!" look.

Two Branning brothers oozing sex appeal (in their own way) in the same week. We're well jel of Mel.

BULLSEYE!

Bravo to Hollyoaks for letting girl power prevail as Sinead, Sienna and Diane finally got the justice they deserved against vile rapist Laurie. While we don't blame Sinead for pushing Laurie off that balcony, we're glad she saved him in the end, and instead let the authorities throw the rotter in jail. We hope this story gives real-life victims the courage to speak out.

Live scenes from the Dales as the cast learns that voting for our Awards is now open.

Adam Barlow
SAMUEL ROBERTSON

Wayne Hayes
ADAM BARLOW

James Bailey
NATHAN GRAHAM

Like Inside Soap, Coronation Street also can't get enough Adam Barlow.

The Bistro should have wine-tasting events with random characters more often. The potential for surprise hook-ups is huge!

We love that Emmerdale's Ryan has gone and had his hair cut just like his sister.

While Gary and Sarah were strapped for cash and sleeping on lilos, how did Bethany manage to afford herself a zippy little Fiat 500? Quite the luxury when her commute to work is crossing the road to the Bistro!

Rumour has it that being shot is a serious business. Yet in the soaps, you can be gunned down at point-blank range and be up and about a couple of days later! Corrie's Michelle, Walford's Stuart and now Emmerdale's Jessie – all survivors of this new phenomenon.

We don't know who we'd rather take our chances with... Killer Gary Windass or mind-controlling Geoff. Well, Corrie did promise us an unexpected Big New Villain!
